THE NOR'EASTER STAFF

NORTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI

Preface

THE years spent in school are the happiest, most care-free existence in one's life. We, the Nor'easter Annual Staff of '37, have realized this, and have tried to give the Northeast Vikings a record which they can cherish forever. Our purpose will be fulfilled if in future years the sight of this Nor'easter will bring memories of the happy days spent in Northeast.

In order that one may remember these years we are presenting them in a new and modern way. The theme is "Swing Time," and we present this book with the hope that Northeast will keep swinging and singing in your treasure house of memories forever.

Dedication

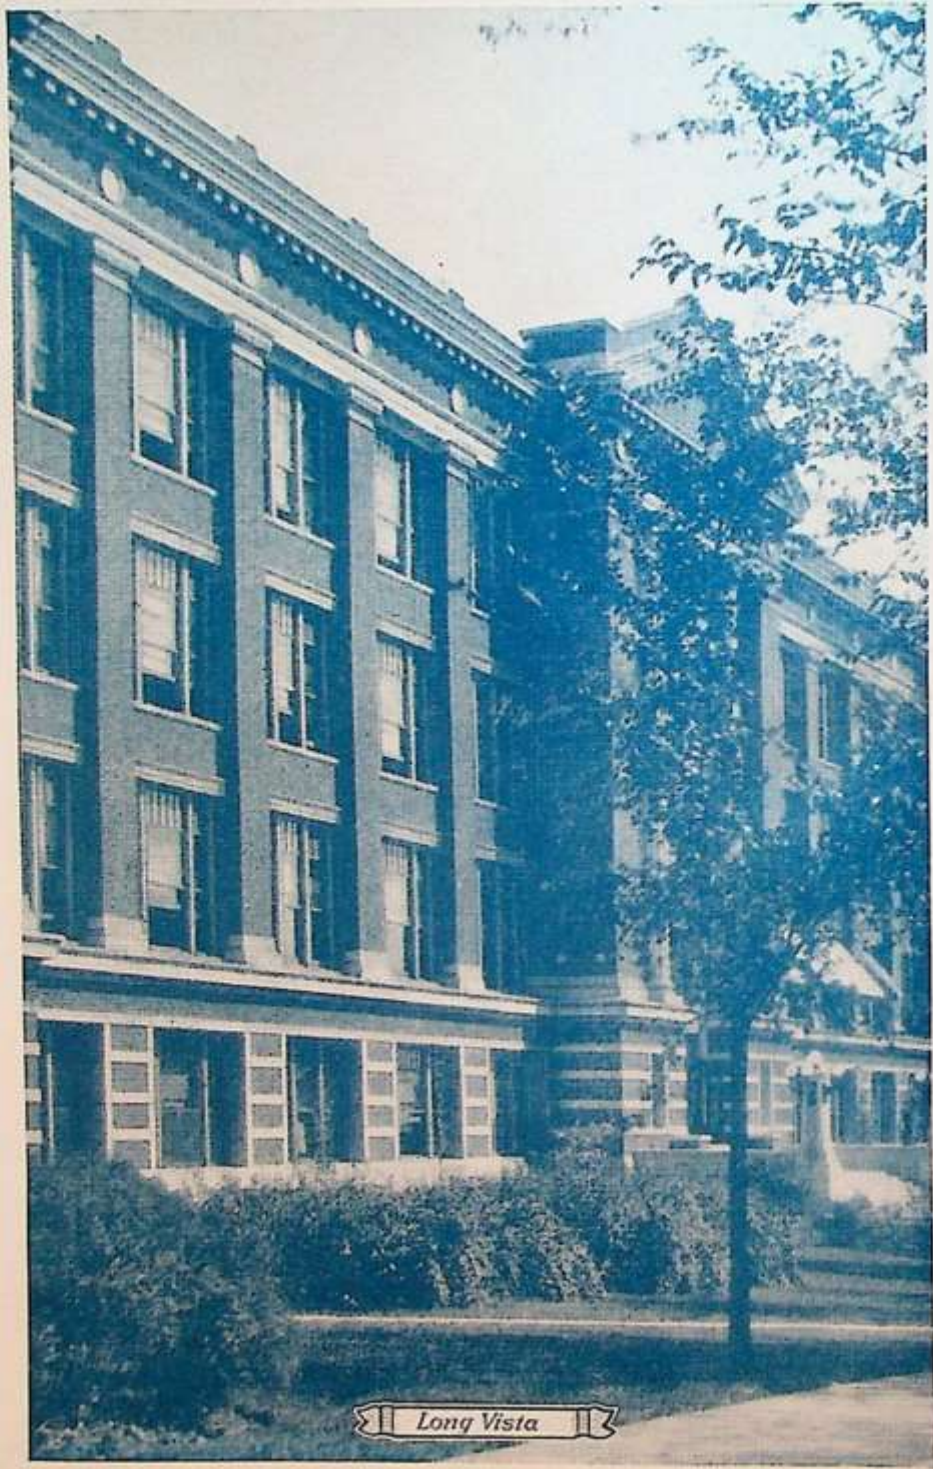

Music is the universal language
of mankind.—LONGFELLOW

THROUGH music, man has been able to express all of his emotions—his joys, his sorrows, his hates, his loves. During all the ages, there have existed those who have expressed themselves in this beautiful way.

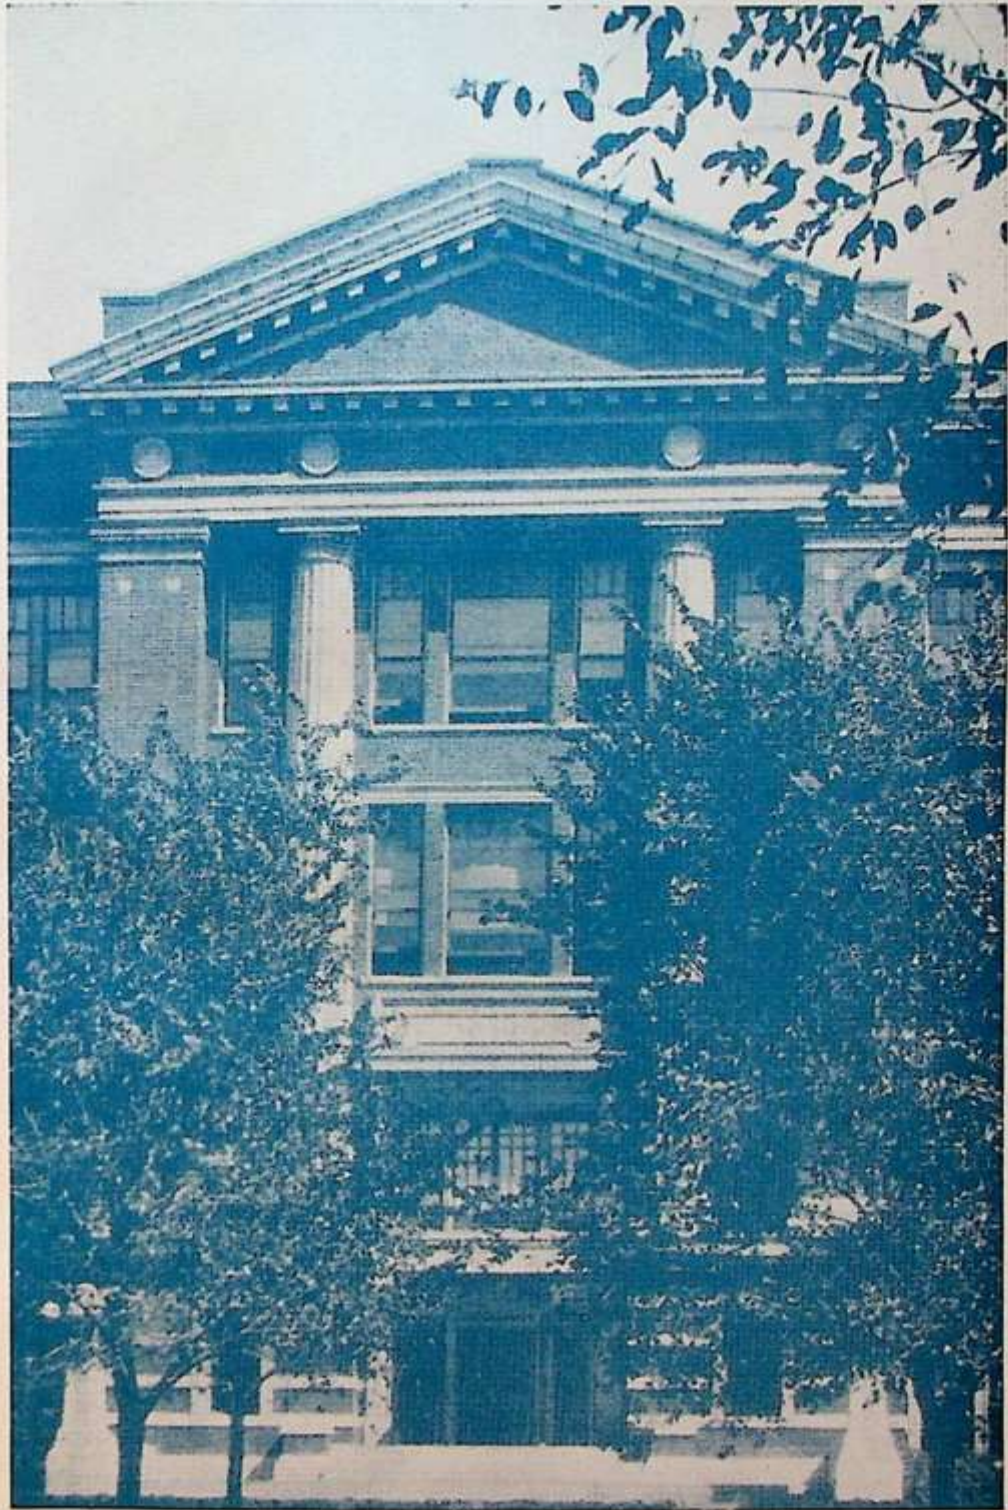

And it is to the musicians of Northeast—past, present, and future—that we, the Staff of '37, dedicate this Nor'easter Annual.

Memoriam

MR. RAYMOND T. DAVIS, Junior College Mathematics teacher, passed away February 4, 1937. Before coming to Northeast this year, he taught at Sidney, Nebraska. He received his Bachelor's Degree at the State University of Iowa.

R. T. DAVIS

During his short stay with us, Mr. Davis made fast friends with all his students and associates. He took a real interest in the work of each individual, for his entire life seemed to be centered around youth. Often proof was given of the fact that he enjoyed doing little things for other people. Some students who were about ready to give up in their efforts in this life found the way out through this man.

Although quiet in the class room, Mr. Davis had a keen sense of humor, jumping at every chance to make a pun when it was least expected. Being a perfect gentleman, he remembered many small courtesies that most of us forget. These and many other points which went to make up his admirable personality helped him find a place among his newly met friends, the teachers of Northeast.

Mr. Raymond Davis, in spite of our brief acquaintance with him, will long be remembered as a teacher who was respected by all his students, and who occupied a place of high esteem among the Faculty of Northeast.

JOHN ANCONA, a Sophomore at Northeast, passed away December 2, 1936. Since John spent such a short time with us, few knew him.

We sympathize deeply with the parents and friends over the unfortunate loss of our fellow student.

College III

NORTHEAST JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Junior College course is a three-year course beginning in the Junior year of the high school. The course has three divisions: the Engineering, the Liberal Arts, and the Business Department.

The Engineering course requires mathematics each year: college algebra, trigonometry, physics, engineering drawing, analytics, calculus, and surveying. Such other subjects as chemistry, English, machine drawing, descriptive geometry, materials, and analytical mechanics are included in the requirements.

The Liberal Arts course offers the usual subjects given in the Freshman and Sophomore years of college, such as English, mathematics, science, social studies, and foreign languages.

The Business Department is for those students who expect to follow a business career. This course includes at least twenty hours of academic college work. To satisfy the present demands, the course is divided into three divisions: Accounting, Clerical, and Secretarial. Students are permitted to major in any one of the three divisions or elect a general course. Upon graduation, they can command a position in six to ten different types of work. This arrangement makes possible not only many chances for employment, but also greater opportunity for advancement. The students are qualified for the specialized jobs of large corporations as well as for the general work of a small office.

The class of 1937 is the fifth Junior College class to be graduated from this system. An approximate total of 330 have been graduated from our courses (including the class of 1937); of those, 100 have entered college. Sixteen of the first year class graduated from senior college with their bachelor's degrees. These sixteen made unusual records at the schools they attended. Our graduation lists include three students who won highest honors at Kansas University; one, a Phi Beta Kappa at Missouri University, has received a scholarship at Heidelberg University in Germany for next year; one was admitted to the Junior class at Wellesley college and will graduate at the regular time this June, 1937. Of those graduating from the Business Department, 90 per cent have succeeded in getting jobs with representative business firms in the city.

Arrangements have been made with the various colleges belonging to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that our recommended graduates will be admitted to their Junior classes. The institutions attended by our graduates thus far are the University of Missouri, University of Kansas, Northwestern University, University of Texas, and several colleges in the middle west.

This Junior College offers an unusual opportunity to the patrons of the Northeast High School for their children to obtain a junior college education at a comparatively low cost.

JUNIOR COLLEGE CLASS OF 1937

The realization that Northeast Junior College is to be discontinued in 1939 did not reduce the efforts of the undergraduates to attain a high achievement record this year. On the contrary, that fact acted as a stimulus, creating a desire in every student to better all previous records, both as individuals and as a class.

Ability, such as possessed by the class of '37, is the foundation of future success. Ability, however, without the initiative to utilize it, is worthless. But the enthusiasm, originality, and efficiency, together with the super-abundance of initiative evidenced by this class, removes any shadow of doubt as to their success in the future.

No goal, however remote and unattainable it may seem, is impossible for them to achieve.

ALLEN, ALMA P.
A No. 1, first of the list;
Alma Allen is sure to be misseed.

ANDERSON, JAMES LOUIS
Our future legal Mendelsohn
Is James Louis Anderson.

AYERS, ERNESTINE MAUDE
Very great happiness, very few cares—
May they all come to Ernestine Ayers.

BOLAND, RUTH
We expect 'twill be in debate
That Ruth will someday meet her fate.

BONFILS, GLORIA MARIE
I think that I shall never see
A red-braded gal as sweet as thee.

BRENNER, DOROTHY HELEN
Why's she dancing down the street?
She just won the swimming meet!

BROOKS, C. C. Jr.
It seems to us it's not a myth
That Junior's future is ————

BROWN, RALPH
You can't accuse Ralph of being slow;
He goes to town on that old banjo.

BUCHER, ANITA M.
Another hopeful doctor to be—
If you doubt it, wait and see!

CARROLL, MARY A.
Twinkle, twinkle, little star;
Someday we will wonder where you are.

COLLINS, DELBERT E.
Dillinger's one really swell guy;
Not a darned thing he won't try.

CONWAY, LEE
"Who's that walking down the street,
Curly hair and great big feet?"

COOMBS, DONALD B.
Wow! The pictures this guy can draw—
He does the best ships you ever saw!

CORNING, BETTY JANE
As dependable as the morning
Is Miss Betty Jane Corning.

DANIELS, J. GRAHAM
If the party's a wash-out, you can't blissham
Versatile, oom-pah-pah, sparkling Graham.

DUFF, BARBARA
Her name is "Babs," but baby stuff
Isn't a "go" with Barbara Duff.

DUTTON, IVA MILDRED
Sweet little lass, Iva Dutton;
Compared to her, we ain't got nuttin'.

EDMONDSON, JUANITA ARLINE
A smile on her face, and never a frown,
With tap-dancing feet, does she go to town!

ESPINOSA, GUADALUPE
From the top of his head to the tips of his toes-a,
Every inch a good fellow, Lupe Espinosa.

FLACY, DOROTHY
Dorothy will, with the greatest of ease,
Dance to success on the typewriter keys.

FLEMING, HAROLD C.
To Einstein's height this boy aspires;
Of studying science he never tires.

GASH, MARGIE MAE
Here's the girl with the ready wit—
She's always good-humored, never says quit.

GRAVETTER, MAXINE
Harmony, melody, rhythm and swing—
Talk about dancing—she's got everything!

GULL, ALFRED JAMES, Jr.
Be it pictures or radios, we need not guess
That Alfred will find in them success.

HAYS, ROLENA
A swell, congenial, likeable lass;
She stands "tops" in the N. P. III Class.

HENDERSON, BILLY
Tennis and ping-pong are his meat;
Billy's a guy who's hard to beat.

HILDRETH, J. WARREN
Hildreth will be a good dentist some day,
So right now we'll bid him, "Good-day."

HOBBS, LO VETRA JANE
Of stamps and autographs she has jobs;
Her name should be Hobbies instead of Hobbs.

HOFFMAN, JULIA
"A jolly good girl" is so darn trite,
But it seems to fit exactly right.

HOPPER, THELMA IRENE
We're looking forward to the day
When Thelma Hopper "takes" Broadway.

HOWEY, BETTY JEAN
Through a crystal in the future I see
Betty on her boss's knee.

HUFFMAN, ALMA MARGARET
Other things we might repeat,
But most of all we say she's sweet.

KACKLEY, FRANCES ILEEN
Beautiful raven-black hair;
We hope she never has a care.

KEPLEY, CATHERINE
Knock! Knock! Who's there?
Catherine, the girl with the beautiful hair.

KIMAK, CHARLES
In football he breaks men's necks;
Ah—but not so with the fairer sex!

LOHMEYER, MARIE DONNASUE
The multiple talents of Miss Lohmeyer
Will someday set the world on fire.

McCANN, WAYNE
A champion teaser and a ladies' man;
Yes, you've guessed it—Wayne McCann.

McCLOUGHAN, MARY FRANCES
This little gal, she ain't tough;
But this little gal, she's got big stuff!

MANESS, NORVAL
His hobby, aviation; his work, chemistry;
Is he wondering, "To be, or not to be?"

MEANS, MAIDA RUTH
Prettier hands can ne'er be seen
Than those possessed by Maida Ruth Means.

MIDDLETON, MARGARET
Faulty rhymes offend her ears;
She'll teach them right in future years.

PERRY, MARILYN
Rhythm Princess, Queen of Swing,
Dancing feet, to thee we sing!

DALTON, MARJORIE
 On the card she wrote "No preference."
 To just what does she have reference?

FRENCH, JACK
 Six feet of brawn, and that's not all:
 How he makes the ladies fall!

MILLER, HAZEL KATHRYN
 Although she's very small, you will find-in-her
 All the qualities of a good stenographer.

PASSIGLIA, MARIE
 Marie will cause many sighs;
 She slays Romeos with her eyes.

PETERIE, DORIS
 Vim and vigor, a friendly smile,
 She makes living worth your while.

PULHAMUS, EUGENE
 Everyone knows the "Jeep";
 He's a friend we'll try to keep.

REED, JUNELLEN RUTH
 Here's to the girl with the infectious laugh;
 She helps others to stand the gaff.

REINKING, DOROTHY
 A secretary as sweet as can be
 And a model of efficiency.

RODMAN, WALKER
 The cartoons he draws are really funny.
 We're willing to bet they'll bring him money.

RUSSELL, ROSEMARY
 Rosemary Russell likes to dance;
 Next to that she likes romance.

SCHUEFBACH, MARY JANE
 Full of pep, full of fun,
 Better than her, there are none.

SETTLE, THOLA DEE
 She's a lady, sweet and small;
 But give her time—she'll grow tall!

SMITH, BETTY
 It seems to us it's on the books
 That Betty's future name is ———.

SMITH, ROY NORTON
 There was a young man named "Smitty,"
 Tall, debonair, and witty.

SHEPARD, CECELIA
 She loves a racket, but not a racketeer;
 Someday, for her, tennis fans will cheer.

STUDDS, DOROTHY LILLIAN
 Studds is a jewel of a name;
 About Dorothy we say the same.

SWAIM, ANNE DICKSON
 A quiet lass is our Anne Swaim;
 Who, we are sure, is due for fame.

TAYLOR, LOUIS
 Lou's studies may get him down,
 But on good music, he goes to town.

TIBBLING, JEAN
 With all the grace and charm of a Queen,
 A sophisticated lady is this Jean.

WIRTHMAN, MARY KATHERINE
 A swell little girl is Mary Wirthman;
 It seems to us she's worth any man.

WOOD, DORIS ETHELYN
 Some girls are popular, some are smart;
 But Doris leads both types, right from the start.

ANDERSON, GERALDINE V.
Beautiful eyes, laughing and merry;
Friendly to all—that's our Jerry.

DAVIS, LILLIAN AVANELL
For Avanel Davis this wish we express:
Be her work and—above all—her life, a success.

DI GUISTO, HENRY A.
Henry Di Guisto is not one to shirk;
May he live a full life and do interesting work.

GERRITY, RAYMOND F.
With his hair, eyes and complexion
He'll steal many a girl's affection.

GOELLNER, MARY ELIZABETH
"A natural" describes her completely;
And she can smile—oh so sweetly!

LOVELACE, HAROLD LEE
Curly hair the girls adore!
What boy could ask for more?

MARTIN, DOROTHY VIRGINIA
We like this gal called Dorothy Martin;
Of that, by gum, we're gosh-darn sartin'!

MOORE, EDWIN JOWETT
Small and mighty—this is he;
His big virtue is constancy.

PFEFFER, RUTH
May Ruth Pfeffer prosper and climb very far;
May her wagon stay securely hitched to a star.

RAMSEY, DOROTHY NADINE
Intelligent this lady is—
She's never stumped by any quiz.

VAN HOOSER, MYRTLE
Athletics attract her attention;
In everything, honorable mention.

WILKS, HELEN
A famous authoress she'll be;
To success she holds the key.

JUNIOR COLLEGE III WITHOUT INDIVIDUAL PICTURES

ANGLE, HAROLD
At Chemistry he's a whiz—
He never gets stuck on a quiz.

BAKER, HAZEL LORRAINE
A girl sweeter than Lorraine?
Your search will surely be in vain.

BAUER, VICTORIA
From difficult problems, she'll never cower;
There'll be no greater success than Victoria Bauer.

CASTLE, MARY JANE
Cute little lady, oh so sweet!
In all respects—from head to feet.

COWAN, MARY VIRGINIA
Stenotype, linotype,
Mary Cowan's our type.

COXWELL, MILDRED OLIVIA
Steno fine, housewife swell!
She'd make 'em both, 'cause she dictates well.

FRANTZ, DOROTHY S.
As sweet, charming, and fair
As the flowers she wears in her hair.

GANNON, DORIS AILEEN
Of Doris Gannon it's been said,
"She's got sense in that pretty head."

GILLHAM, JAMES
Jimmie's a man they all adore
From the first up to the second floor.

HARMON, JIMMIE DAVIDSON Jr.
Everyone knows of Jimmie Harmon;
The things he does are most alarmin'.

HAWKINS, JOSEPH GAILYARD
Always dressed like a fashion-plate;
When calling for Dorothy, he's never late.

LITTTRELL, LUCILLE JANE
The friendship of Lucille
Is a friendship that is real.

MAST, MARY PHYLLIS
She's not slow, she's not fast;
Her popularity is bound to last.

MEYER, MARY LOUISE
Orchids to Mary Louise Meyer,
For of her we will never tire.

PAINTER, SIDNEY
It's true there's nothing in a name;
As a writer he'll easier find fame.

PARKER, JOHN
Of being the King of Baseball Johnny dreams.
To us, more than a possibility it seems.

RAPP, GLEN OTIS
An athletic star with plenty of snap;
A "he-man" you know it, Glen Otis Rapp.

TAYLOR, EMILY PAULINE
Emily Taylor has poise and reserve;
Always willing and ready to serve.

TUTORINO, KATHRYN L.
A huge success, Miss Tutorino.
It may come true, how do we know?

WETZ, HELEN MARY
A dependable steno she's sure to be—
The sweetest girl you'll ever see.

WILCOX, GEORGE WILLIAM
Miracle man of some renown,
Nothing impossible when he's aroun'.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

For the first time in the history of Northeast Junior College, students in the College III Class participated in intra-class sports. This year the boys formed football, basketball, baseball, and track teams; Secretary-Engineer teams competed with Liberal Arts. Sometimes one team came out ahead, sometimes the other; occasionally the score was 0-0 with both sides claiming victory. Incidentally, a College III team scored an overwhelming victory over the high school's "first team" in football.

The girls, not to be outdone, organized both hockey and basketball teams. The games were very successful, although broken fingernails and cracked shinbones were the results.

Another favorite sport of the College III Class this year was ping-pong. Almost any hour of the day one could find several members of the class busy batting the little celluloid ball back and forth in the room off the gymnasium.

All in all, athletics (and athletes!) were in good favor this year.

 Row 2—Rapp, Hawkins, Pulhamus, Smith, DeHardt, French, Conway, Howard, Jackson, Fleming.
 Row 3—Moore, Espinosa, Lovelace, Hallett, Fleming, Hildreth, Taylor, Kimak, Dorr, Maness.
 Absentees—Angle, McCann, Smith, Coombs, Gillham.

THE COLLEGE CLUBS

The dearest place in the memory of all who leave Northeast Junior College this year will be occupied by grand times had "over at the Y." The Boys' College Club and the Girls' College Club were organized primarily to create a feeling of fellowship between the members of the College III Class. This purpose was fulfilled. Especially was this sense of fellowship in evidence at the monthly joint meetings. Harry Harlan and Agnes Engel, sponsors of the clubs, co-operated in making these more successful than any similar meetings held in previous years.

Remember sitting around the fire at Bellaire Park eating hamburgers and drinking Coca Cola? Remember those comic valentines? And remember listening to Harry give one of his inspiring "I-haven't-much-to-say" talks before the fireplace at the "Y"?

As if we could ever forget those happy times!

JUNIOR COLLEGE II CLASS

Last year we were rounding the curve to second base. This year we have attained this half-way goal and look forward with eagerness and anticipation toward greater opportunities for us in 1938.

We have come thus far with high honors and feel confident that we shall continue with a praiseworthy record. The Junior College II Class has had its share of outstanding sportsmen and sportswomen, of stage presentations, and of high scholastic ratings.

The Northeast Junior College is frankly an experiment, but we, the College II Class, feel certain that we have done our part to make it a successful one. We do not mean to be boastful, but we are confident that we shall turn out to be a fine product of the Junior College.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

SENIOR CLASS

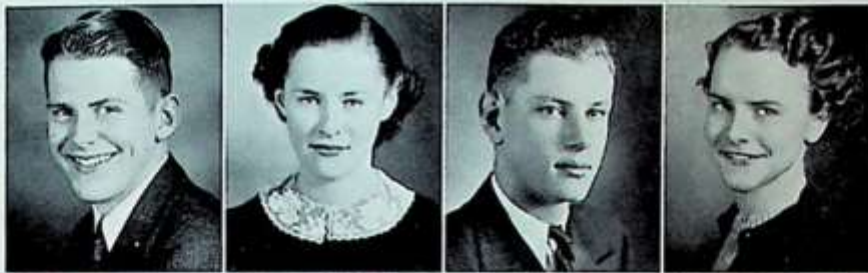

When the call was sounded this fall for us to take our places at the helm of the great Viking ship, we answered that call. But now our labors have ended; our work is finished.

Like all good seamen, we gave our best, and when the seas were rough, we "stood by," never failing in our purpose. We feel that after these four years we are "full-fledged" old salts.

We regret leaving the ship, for we leave behind many good times, and the thought of leaving our shipmates saddens us.

We feel confident, however, that the class of '38 will truly uphold the traditions set by past senior classes.

Though failure comes to all of us sometimes, we should remember the words of the poet, "Our greatest glory is never in falling, but in rising every time we fall."

Energy will find and win the way.

THE SENIOR YEAR

- SEPTEMBER . . . The last "first day" of school for seniors. Two years ago they were only a crop of insignificant "sophs." Trembling and half scared, they tried to hide beneath a boisterous surface. Two years has transformed them and has steadied them into a group of confident and competent seniors. "Ready, Willing, and Able," they swing into action.
- OCTOBER . . . Ah! Football! The seniors having a sense of loyalty to their school, set out in groups to what seems to be a great football season. Pennants waving, the band playing—the keen October air is filled with cheers and yells of "Hold that line!" and "Com' on, team, we're with ya!" Between halves everyone makes a mad dash to the hot-dog stand. Victory or defeat mean nothing. The old gang will be at the next game just the same.
- NOVEMBER . . . This is the month when Junior raids mother's perfume bottle and dad's closet, and daughter insists on that backless formal. Why? Because the Inter-Society Dance is coming. Wrangling for bids and the exchange of dances have already taken place. Girls in flowery, demure dresses, slick satins, or sophisticated laces, sway lightly in their partner's arms. The soft music and the subdued lights make them forget their humdrum daily existence.
- DECEMBER . . . When December rolls around, the students look forward to the Christmas holidays. The last day is filled with programs, a general assembly, and caroling through the halls. Parties galore fill the holidays. But everything good comes to an end and so finally back to school.
- JANUARY . . . Who can ever forget the mid-year exams? Playtime is over. The late studying (cramming incognito) is especially noticed by father when he gets the "light bill." A final grade card ends the first semester.
- FEBRUARY . . . It's a new month, a new start, a new semester. Every senior buckles down and decides to make his final semester the best. Of course, since the Basketball season is on, all conversation centers around the defeats and victories of the various games.
- MARCH Instead of the traditional March wind, this year we had snow. But that didn't keep an enthusiastic crowd of Nor'easters away from the games. Though we lost our championship, our team played well. So we're wishing the basketeers of '38 lots of luck.
- APRIL Green grass—green trees—flowers—romance! With Mr. Chapin patrolling the promenade walk on the lower floor it is hard for these young couples to concentrate. But—oh, there's the third and fourth floors. Gazing out of the open windows is the main occupation of every senior (if they're near enough to one). The teachers are prepared for anything.
- MAY The ending of the track meets and all other Inter-Scholastic sports for the year. Class Day then rolls around. A special assembly has been prepared. The curtains go up on the last assembly for the senior students. This certainly makes them realize what the three years spent here mean to them. Then Junior-Senior Combat Day comes along and the upperclassmen are cut loose and told, "Go to it." Boys, with their overalls (all sorts) and other amusing "get-ups," with their faces painted in various shades of red and black (one notices a slight resemblance to the wild Apaches), prepare for a great battle. "Tug of War" is the event that brings forth cheers and cries from the charming girls on the side-lines. Then the loser goes right through that muddy pond of water. It takes plenty of soap and scrubbing that night, but who cares? Least of all the winners!
- JUNE A group of seniors, clad in gray robes seated in the huge Municipal Auditorium, awaiting the reward for which they have worked so long. The moment arrives; tense, nervous, each waits for his name to be called. Then—forward to receive his diploma. It is all over! Tomorrow is a new day—and there will be new lands to conquer.

JUNIOR COLLEGE I CLASS

Attention, Northeast Junior College! The 1936-37 team is on the field. The line-up is unusually good. There are more players on the Honor Roll than in any one previous year. The coaches are the same distinguished ones who have led the five preceding teams to victory.

Our set-up being all that we could ask, we are out for the championship. Our challenge for victory is the greatest of all the years, for we are the last team to do battle for the cup. We cannot fail! Not only must we equal the record of the former teams, but we must beat it.

Morituri Salutamus!

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

JUNIOR CLASS

The class of '38, a class of earnest and cheerful girls and boys with interests centered in hard study, loyalty, and ambition, is next in line for promotion to captaincy of the Viking ship. Their achievements in both curricular and extra-curricular activities of the school show them to be capable of this trust. These young people have held places on honor rolls, have been leaders in their literary societies, in their classes, and on athletic teams. The Junior officers exemplify the ideals of the class. In addition to their interest in curricular achievements, they dominate social activities that will add to, rather than detract from, the glory of Northeast.

The Junior class will go forward into the position of captain at the helm of the Viking ship fully prepared to guide it through the tumult to greater honor and fame.

Sophomore

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Ours is the first Sophomore Class since 1929 that will go through Northeast as a united group. We shall not divide next year, as the preceding classes have done—some taking the New Plan and others continuing as Juniors—but instead, each of us will go into the latter class. For this reason we should be bound by a greater unity and, remembering that "united we stand; divided we fall," make the class of '39 one which will long be remembered in dear old Northeast.

NORTHEAST HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY

For twenty-four years, sharing trials and victories alike, the faculty of Northeast High School has steadily marched forward. The value of their work has been priceless. They have skillfully guided students along the path of education, making the rough road easy. School life has been more enjoyable through their leadership and endurance. Words cannot express the gratitude each student feels in his heart for the teacher who helped him through his high school days.

The Northeast High School and Junior College Parent-Teacher Association was organized for the purpose of promoting child welfare in all its phases, to bring into closer relationship the home and the school, to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, moral, and spiritual education.

With our finances and services we have supported the Kansas City Council, the Mary Harmon Weeks Foundation, the Gold Star Scholarship, the Mutual Help Center and the Northeast Y. M. C. A.

We wish success and happiness for our Northeast boys and girls and pledge our loyal support to them in all their undertakings.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, a body of students co-operating with the faculty as the governmental body of the school, makes an effort to bring before the students a number of activities during the year.

Carrying on the Red Cross Drive, working toward improvements in building and grounds, teaching safety, emphasizing courtesy and promoting health are only a few of the duties of the six committees, who work with the officers and executive committee toward the betterment of Northeast.

Miss Packard, who has directed the council capably since its organization, is still its faculty sponsor.

NOR'EASTER ANNUAL STAFF

What's new? What's modern? Why—it's Swingtime!

Buoyed along by this rhythmic theme, the 1937 Nor'easter Annual Staff suited the action to the word.

The Staff members have worked in harmony to turn out an Annual that would truly reflect the activities of Northeast's student body.

Instead of using vague terms and trite phrases, about which ordinary high school students know little or nothing, we have finally gotten into the sensible movement of "bouncing back to earth" to be just what we are and no more.

Instead of asking students to look into a future that is too far away and too uncertain, we are presenting to them through our work in this Annual, activities of the present—things to be remembered in the future.

Our constant idea this year in this Nor'easter Staff has been to avoid making our Annual "An Instruction Book for Living Life," but instead make it "Our Memory Book of 1937." Our advisors were Miss Newitt, Miss Pile, Mr. Marsh, Mr. Phillips, and Mr. White.

ART COMMITTEE

It is difficult to imagine what the Northeast annual would be without the faithful work of the art department. We do know that our annual would be very bare and unattractive if not for the work of the art committee.

Under the direction of Miss Mabel Newitt and the art editors, the '37 Nor'easter Art Committee worked to make a more attractive book. To become a member of the art staff, one must attend nearly all the weekly meetings and also show unusual artistic ability. The eighteen members of the staff this year worked faithfully, and much praise is due them for their fine contributions to the annual.

FIRST SEMESTER COURIER STAFF

A "nose for news" was rather difficult for the first semester Courier Staff to sprout, after a summer vacation filled with everything but school work. Although memories of good times kept looming up, the Staff pitched into the work of editing the school paper with energy.

The first task was to get subscriptions. The newswriters not only received training in writing, but also acquired practice in salesmanship. A very high mark was made in the number of subscriptions.

All in all, the members of the Staff published a paper which contained both news and interest. For many years to come, they will look back upon their "reporter" days as days of accomplishment.

SECOND SEMESTER COURIER STAFF

Striving to put out a paper of school interest and maintaining the standards of good journalism, the second semester Courier Staff instigated the popular reading of editorials by lengthening the column and producing shorter, terser editorials.

More of the spirit of school-life was put into the publication by lengthening the Roving Reporter and increasing the number of human interest stories. A column dealing with health in general and posture in particular was added, in co-operation with the health committee of the Student Council.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

"I made it! Did you? I wonder if Mary did." Questions and ejaculations such as these flew fast the day the National Honor Society members were announced. It was indeed a thrilling day for those people who had received that great honor of belonging to the National Honor Society. Young hearts beat fast with pride and joy as small white envelopes were placed in the hands of the members.

The National Honor Society is a means of honoring those Juniors and Seniors who have shown outstanding leadership and scholarship during their high school careers. To be chosen, one must have a high scholastic standing and must have taken an active part in school activities, both curricular and extra-curricular.

In a special assembly, a small pin bearing a flaming torch is awarded to each member. These pins are treasured greatly through life—not because of their material value but because of the strivings and aspirations they represent.

"GROWING PAINS"

"Growing Pains," a youthful comedy, was presented by the students of Northeast, May 14 and 15, as the annual spring play.

The story takes place in the Patio of the McIntyre residence in northern California. It presents the dilemma of the McIntyres, who see their boy and girl tossed in the cataracts of adolescence and can do nothing more than give advice, which egocentric youth always rejects, of course.

The two "kids," George and Terry, experience all the heartaches and thrills of growing up. Many things happen to them, but the end is bright and promising. The audience laughed indulgently at the awkward jokes of the adolescents.

AMERICAN LEGION ORATORICAL CONTEST

The American Legion Oratorical contest was held February 12 in the Music Hall of the Municipal Auditorium. Richard Browne, the representative from Northeast, spoke on the Supreme Court and the Constitution. He won first place in the preliminary contest held at the school and was presented with a medal in assembly. Unfortunately, he failed to place in the contest at the Music Hall.

BOOK PLATES

As Wordsworth's heart leaped up with delight when he beheld a new-born Rainbow in the sky, so Prof. E. D. Phillips's heart leaped up with joy when he beheld the new Constellation of book plates, as a child would applaud a fresh efflorescence of daffodils,—the one to enliven a flower garden; the other to adorn the Book Plate Section of our 1937 Annual Magazine. Why should he not be thus exhilarated, since twenty-four years ago he timidly ventured to add this new feature to a high school annual? Notwithstanding he was not a technically trained artist himself, he made the venture, and was glad to find that the teacher of art and design was pleased to co-operate with him from year to year, until this beautiful feature has developed into a permanent section of our magazine.

Northeast's Book-Plate...

Fortunately, it serves the double purpose of cultivating the pupil's artistic talent to embellish the commencement Nor'easter, and of reflecting the spirit and life of our school. It also qualifies the young designers to enter the business world professionally, to design posters and to illustrate magazines and books to answer the demands of this pictorial age. Showers of spring flowers should be given to Miss Mabel A. Newitt for the sympathetic help which she has so generously extended to these young artists who have made this department so useful and attractive.

MR. FRENCH

MR. CHAFFEE

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Mr. French and Mr. Chaffee have played an important part in making Northeast outstanding in its musical achievements.

THE A CAPPELLA CHORUS

The A Cappella Chorus, in their new robes, has given Northeast several opportunities to feel proud of her own talent. The Chorus of mixed voices, singing without accompaniment presented programs in assemblies and various churches. Their performance at the Raymond T. Davis Memorial assembly has elicited many compliments. The A Cappella Chorus received honorable mention and very high praise for their part in the recent all-school contest.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Boys who enjoy singing, sight reading, and a study of music may be found in this harmonious organization.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The girls, like the boys, sang at several entertainments and have shown exceptional talent in the blending of voices.

THE SOLO CONTEST

For the last few years Mr. Chaffee has originated and sponsored a solo contest at Northeast that has aroused interest throughout the country. This contest gives the pupil a goal to work toward, and winning offers a chance to attain greater heights.

An outside judge selects the best soprano, alto, contralto, tenor, barytone, and bass voices.

THE POPULAR ORCHESTRA

The Popular Orchestra has become very well liked by the student body. It played for the Viking Varieties and the mixers.

THE BAND

At the football and basketball games the Band was seen in their uniforms and heard playing marches with great enthusiasm. They also created much interest when they played in the assemblies.

THE ORCHESTRA

The Orchestra has been very successful in interpreting classical numbers which have been enjoyed by all those listening.

PLAY DAYS

A sports play day for girls was inaugurated this fall among the high schools of Kansas City. The tournaments were held to give the girls a good time, to provide them with a broader knowledge of hockey and volley ball, and to develop a friendlier feeling among students of the different high schools. Following the games a luncheon was served, and later in the afternoon a social hour was held.

On November 21, 1936, a hockey play day was held at Westport High School. Invitations were accepted by Pasco, Westport, Central, Southwest, and Northeast High Schools, and in addition Barstow and Sunset Hill, Kansas City's private schools for girls, were invited.

The Vi-Queens on the team from Northeast were: Jonnie Huff, Marjorie Carter, Mary Parks, Willie Irvine, Helen Glasscock, Jean Cox, Dorothy Allen, Marian Fisher, Peggy Hambel, Marian Stephens, Susie Gwartney, Mary Catherine Colglazier, and Mildred Taulbert.

LIFE SAVING

Girls desiring to pass the American Red Cross Life Saving test have been given special coaching by Miss Bland during class and after school. Life saving technics are drilled upon until the girls are skilled in them. The final test is given by the American Red Cross Life Saving Examiner's Board, and each girl that passes is permitted to wear the life saving pin or emblem.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Hockey, giant volley ball, basketball, and volley ball are competitive sports offered in the physical education program. A preliminary contest is held within the classes, and an all-star squad is selected to represent each class. Then an inter-class tournament is held.

Hiking, track, swimming, ping pong, and tennis are individual sports. Tournaments and meets are held, giving every girl a chance to take part if she chooses.

The rewards for girls in athletics are: the little "N" (75 points); the Big "N" (125 points); the Seal (175 points); and permission to buy a school blanket (200 points).

PLAY DAYS (Continued)

Volley ball play day followed and was held at Manual Training High School on February 20, 1937. Northeast won every game in this tournament, but no victory laurels were hung. The same schedule was followed, except that an exhibition game was played by two men's volley ball teams from the Y. M. C. A.

The following girls played for Northeast: Helen Markus, Dorothe Schuepbach, Mary Jane Schuepbach, Jean Cox, Nora Smith, Mary Catherine Colglazier, Dorothy Allen, Evelyn Sullivan, Marie Nordvedt, Carmen Nichols, Mary Ellen Laury, Helen Stecz, Ruth Magee, Dorothy Siefkas, Wilma Johnson, Marie Church, Mary Parks, Almeda Johnson, Susie Gwartney, Marian Stephens, Peggy Hambel, and Mildred Taulbert.

R. E. PETERS

M. E. DAVIS

COACHES

Northeast's fine basketball and track teams explain fully enough the capabilities of Coach R. E. Peters. As head of the athletic department, he has charge of both the basketball and track teams. In his sixteen years of tutelage at Northeast, his basketball teams have never been below third place, winning six city championships and three state championships. This record can be attributed to but one cause, the excellent coaching of good athletes. The track team, under his tutelage, has won eleven city championships and six state championships. Besides this, they have made fourteen school records, seven state records, four Kansas Relays records, four Drake Relays records, and three world records. When a high school mentor has a record such as this, no more need be said.

The job of turning out commendable football teams goes to Coach M. E. Davis. He has done this job well with the material that has been available for him. In the last six years his teams have won two city titles. He teaches his charges only the highest ideals in sportsmanship, and will long be remembered for this fine trait. All of his players are well trained in the fundamentals of the game.

Exceptional efficiency has been shown by the financial department this year. The responsibility of making school athletic competition a paying proposition goes to Mr. D. L. Deniston. It has been handled capably by him, and the school owes a word of praise to his department.

CHEER LEADERS
Stanley, Powell, Thompson, Slagle

CHEER LEADERS

The endeavors of Jimmy Stanley, Bob Thompson, Allen Slagle, and Forbes Powell ran the cheering enthusiasm high on all occasions of Northeast's competition with other schools. Their superior leading ability proved a great bracer to the teams who were fighting for the honor of their school.

Jimmy Stanley, serving his second year, acted the role of head cheer leader of this successful group.

JIMMY WIRTHMAN

Jimmy Wirthman, a smashing lineman, was selected a year ago to lead this year's football team. His playing ability made him a threat to the enemy runners. Many times he crashed through the opposing line to throw the runner for a loss. His constant and brilliant playing earned for him a berth on the all-star team.

SAMMY BLASCO

One of the outstanding players of the Northeast team was Sam Blasco. His flashy broken-field running was beauty in itself. Many times, without interference, he broke away for long runs which gave the Viking rooters hope. He made up for his lack of size by his outstanding play on the offense. His fine work did not go unrewarded, as he was given honorable mention on the city all-star team.

FIRST TEAM FOOTBALL

Northeast's low standing in the Interscholastic League was due chiefly to the necessity of taking a chance. From the start, everything in the Viking ranks was a gamble. The inexperienced men who were going to have to step into the champions' shoes and try to fill them capably was a long chance. When these boys were on the short end of a score, they started throwing passes which the enemy frequently intercepted and turned against the Vikings.

Power was not missing in the Viking camp this year. Quoting one coach before his team battled Northeast: "They have the power but have not as yet got it rolling. I hope they don't start against us." Their inexperience proved a great handicap to them, as they might have got the so-called "power" started had they had another experienced man or two.

Viking followers hopefully point to next fall when the outlook is not quite so dull as it was this year. Although six lettermen are returning, only a few of these have had actual game experience. A captain to lead next year's team was not chosen this year.

SECOND FOOTBALL TEAM

The second football team is used as a means of getting material for the Varsity and of giving boys more experience so as to make them act well under fire. Players use the second squad as a stepping stone to the Varsity. Boys who are not quite ready to make the first team are sent to the "Scrubs" for seasoning.

There is a league of second teams. They play on the Mondays following the Saturdays on which the first team plays.

The "Scrubs" should be given more credit. They stay late after school taking punishment so the first team can get practice.

Mr. George Calvert has been doing a good job of handling the second team material, and has the ability to bring out the best in the boys he has in charge.

SUMMARY OF GAMES

CENTRAL 13—NORTHEAST 7

Taking an early lead by way of Dye's 45-yard run in the second quarter, Northeast held until the last five seconds of play when Central pushed over its touchdown. This game was the first of the season for the Northeast team, the William Chrisman game being called off indefinitely because of the soggy condition of the Northeast gridiron.

ROCKHURST 25—NORTHEAST 0

Holding the Hawks to one touchdown in the first half, the Vikings were desperate for a score. They resorted to a passing attack, but this proved fatal. Rockhurst intercepted two of these heaves and went for touchdowns both times. The right side of the Viking line proved especially weak in this game.

SUMMARY OF GAMES

EAST 32—NORTHEAST 0

Letting Black and Mathis carry the burden, East ran roughshod over the Viking Gridsters. Northeast's only attempt to make a touchdown came in the closing minutes of the second period, but the gun beat them to the line, and the half ended with the ball on East's 18-yard line.

SOUTHWEST 20—NORTHEAST 0

Throughout the first three quarters of the game, the Vikings held the Southwest team to a lone touchdown. In the fourth quarter, however, Southwest made two touchdowns which practically doomed the Viking gridsters.

SUMMARY OF GAMES

PASEO 20—NORTHEAST 0

Led by Raupp and Wilhelmson, the Paseo Pirates made it the fifth straight loss in as many games for the Vikings.

MANUAL 13—NORTHEAST 0

Failing to capitalize on the breaks that were given them, the Vikings lost to Manual 13 to 0. Twice in the second half the Vikings had the ball inside Manual's 10-yard line, but could not push it over.

WESTPORT 32—NORTHEAST 6

The speedy Westport backs were too much for the Viking Gridsters, and as a result ran roughshod over the Northeast team 32 to 6. Blasco made the Viking touchdown in the early part of the last quarter when he raced 63 yards to score.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Row 1—Folkert, Dye, T. Trotter, Marsh, Anderson, Denton (Capt.), Dunn, Blasco.
Row 2—Briscoe, Austin, Jenkins, K. Trotter, Lowe, Phillips, Elliott, Scruby, White, Day, Tonkin.

TILFORD DENTON

Tilford Denton, flashy guard, led the basketball team this year. Always a cool-headed player, Denton was high point man of the season for the Vikings. For the second consecutive year he was chosen on the city all-star team.

BASKETBALL

When Coach Peters issued the call for basketball candidates, approximately 100 boys reported. Among these were only two lettermen, Tiff Denton, all-star guard, and Charles Folkert, who became ineligible at the semester because of the nine semester ruling. Out of these candidates, 25 were retained for first and second team use.

Opening the season against Ward, Northeast was completely humiliated to the tune of 43-13. The next week, however, the Vikings came back to win from Wyandotte, 34-30. Rockhurst was the next victim whom we handily defeated. Now in a winning stride, the Vikings handed the Alumni a 22-19 defeat.

In the league opener the Vikings won over Central 23-18, and a week later nosed out East 20-19. A non-league game found the Vikings opposing Wm. Chrisman, and in a closely contested game the Bears won 24-22. Resuming our league schedule, we defeated Paseo 24-22 by way of a last-minute goal. Our first league loss of the season was to Westport when they defeated the Vikings 35-14. The title hopes were badly jarred the next week when we were humbled by Manual 24-20. Closing the season two weeks later, the Vikings found themselves on the short end of the 26-22 score.

Thus, the season for the Vikings turned out to be only an average season.

BASKETBALL LETTERMEN

KENNETH DUNN

A fighting, scrapping player, Kenneth was a constant threat to the enemy. His keen eye for the basket helped to add to the Viking scores.

TILFORD DENTON

An all-star guard a year ago, Tiff came back to prove that his last year's performance was not a flash in the pan. His cool-headedness and aggressive playing ability won for him a place on the all-star team for the second consecutive year.

C. O. ANDERSON

A steady, dependable player, "Andy" will be the only returning letterman for next year. A forward this year, he may be converted into a center next year.

KENNETH DUNN TILFORD DENTON C. O. ANDERSON

TED TROTTER RICHARD MARSH CHAS. FOLKERT

ELMONT DYE SAMMY BLASCO

TED TROTTER

Although not eligible until after the first semester, his play in the last few games was commendable. His fighting spirit made him an asset to the team.

RICHARD MARSH

His height enabled him to control the tip-off in most of the games, to get many rebounds and tips in shots. He was chosen center on the second all-star team.

CHARLES FOLKERT

"Red" was a fast, clever ball handler, and his ability to score made a great difference in the Viking team.

ELMONT DYE

His fleetness of foot made him a valuable asset to the team. Although he was a reserve, his entrance into the game made a marked difference in the team's play.

SAMMY BLASCO

One of the smallest men on the team, Sammy was adept at breaking up enemy plays. He is the type that makes up for lack of size by his fighting spirit.

BOYS' TRACK SQUAD

Row 1—Rhodus, Anderson, Dye, Glenn, Young, Marsh, Wirthman, Onka, Curry, Pickering.
 Row 2—Shepard, Michaels, Fulkerson, Collins, Denton, Hill, Weisbach, Bounds, Blasco, Manners.
 Row 3—Austin, Nelson, Rahiya, Lee, Williams, Jennings, Lowe, Phillips, Gerhart, Ward, Fleming, Barton, Ragan.

TRACK PROSPECTS

Winning their first two track meets by wide margins, the Vikings show promise of being the city champions for the third consecutive year. This year's team is exceptionally strong in the dashes, and has a good field of pole vaulters, shot putters, high jumpers and broad jumpers. In the hurdles is a new comer who will give all opposition trouble in defeating him. He has won his first two starts, in both the high and low hurdles, one being over the city titleholder at Paseo. The 440-yard dash will be well run, and should gain the Viking team many points in the city meet. The 880-yard run will find Northeast with a strong field of contenders giving the opposition a battle for first place. The relay team, which broke the city record last year, has lost only one veteran and has found a capable one to replace him. This team should be at the head of the procession when the relay is run at the city meet.

Captained by Elmont Dye, the Vikings have the following entries: Dashes—Elmont Dye and Jim Wirthman; 440—Ted Trotter, John Glenn, Carleton Young, and Floyd Curry; 880—Hugh Bounds, John Weisbach, and Sam Blasco; High Hurdles—G. T. Rhodus and John Glenn; Low Hurdles—G. T. Rhodus and John Glenn; Pole Vault—Jim Shepard, Tom Manners, and Douglas Fulkerson; High Jump—Max Pickering, Richard Marsh, and Bill Hill; Broad Jump—Elmont Dye, Max Pickering, and Richard Marsh; Shot Put—Joe Collins, Mike Onka, and Tiff Denton; Relay—Jim Wirthman, John Glenn, Ted Trotter, and Elmont Dye.

Striving to make it three consecutive championships for Northeast, these boys will fight to the last man to realize their aim. Besides their running ability, these boys have a grim determination to win, which makes the track season more hopeful for Northeast.

ELMONT DYE

Elmont Dye, greased lightning sprinter, captained this year's track squad. He has lettered in track three years, and in that time has won the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash in the city meet. He has also won a state letter, which proves his worth to the track team.

CHAMPIONSHIP RELAY TEAM

RELAY TEAM

Composed of Jim Wirthman, John Glenn, Ted Trotter, and Elmont Dye, this year's relay team has four of the outstanding runners of the city. While each of these boys is a star in his own field, when running together they work in perfect precision and remind one of a smooth working time-piece.

This team set a record at the K. U. Relays when it ran the half mile in the fast time of 1:33.4. As Juniors last year, three of these boys ran on the team that broke the city record. As many meets are decided by the relay, it is well that a good relay team is composed of boys from our school.

OFFICERS OF NORTHEAST R. O. T. C.

The Cadet officers of 1936-37 have distinguished themselves in leadership and have co-operated with Sergeant P. K. Healy to the greatest extent. They have also been unusually proficient in both drill and theory. Non-commissioned officers were also examples of military smartness. Northeast has, therefore, had an outstanding battalion, and looks forward to the future.

The battalion's neatness and smartness is personified in Buckner Teeple, this year's Cadet Major.

THE JUNIOR RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

"The general object of this course is primarily to lay the foundation of intelligent citizenship by inculcating in the student habits of precision, orderliness, courtesy, correctness of posture and deportment, leadership, and respect for, and loyalty to, constituted authority; and secondarily, to prepare him for further military instruction which will qualify him for a position of leadership in time of National Emergency."

THE VIKING RIFLE CLUB

This has been another excellent year in the history of the Viking Rifle Club. Not only is the organization one of the largest of its kind in the city, but the progress it has made has been remarkable.

One of the objects of the Club is to teach each member how to handle a rifle safely and how to shoot accurately.

The Viking Rifles are affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America, and practically every member won a qualification. The Club is the basis of the Rifle team and all the material for the team comes from it.

R. O. T. C. CIRCUS

Held against the background of the colorful Municipal Auditorium, this year's R. O. T. C. Circus was indeed spectacular. April 23, 1937, was the time specified for this outstanding performance.

The events consisted of various drills executed by the Kansas City and Independence Battalions. Special events were introduced in the form of crack drill teams from Missouri University and various out-of-town military schools.

After the thrilling Grand Entry, Northeast's event number fourteen was a Butts Manual Drill, consisting of a platoon demonstrating physical training with rifles.

The R. O. T. C. Circus is one of the highspots of the year for the R. O. T. C. Cadet. The Circus was concluded with the playing of the National Anthem.

Many honored guests were present, including, Major General Ford, Commanding 7th Corps Area; Brigadier General Bundel, Commandant, Staff and Command School, Fort Leavenworth; Brigadier General Stayton, Commanding Missouri National Guard, and Mr. George Melcher, Superintendent of Kansas City Public Schools.

RIFLE TEAM

RIFLE TEAM

This year the 1936-37 Northeast R. O. T. C. Rifle Team has done exceedingly well. The City Match, in which it placed fourth, was the first official match in which the whole team had fired. Considering this, and the fact that no hold-overs from last year were on the team, progress was rapid. The total score of Northeast was 801 points out of a possible 1000. Westport placed first.

Lavern Whiteside was named as captain this year because of his ability and his rapid progress. To Sergeant P. K. Healy, coach and instructor, goes much of the credit for the team's advancement.

Boyd Blunt and Phillip Arbogast qualified as Expert Rifleman. Blunt was second high man in the city. The rest of the men qualified as Marksmen.

EVENTS OF THE YEAR

This year the Northeast Battalion has been extremely active. The Rifle Team try-outs and practice started late in September. Adjutant's Call for the First Battalion Parade was sounded on October 25th. The organization marched in the Annual Armistice Day Parade on November 11th. Major Teeple was commissioned December 19th. The City Rifle Meet was held January 16th at East and Lathrop, Northeast placing fourth. A meeting for the election of officers of the Viking Rifle Club was held February 10th. March 20th was the date reserved for the colorful R. O. T. C. Hop. On April 23rd the R. O. T. C. Circus was held in the Municipal Auditorium. The annual inspection of the Battalion by the War Department was held May 7th. The year's events were concluded in May by Field Day, Northeast doing admirably.

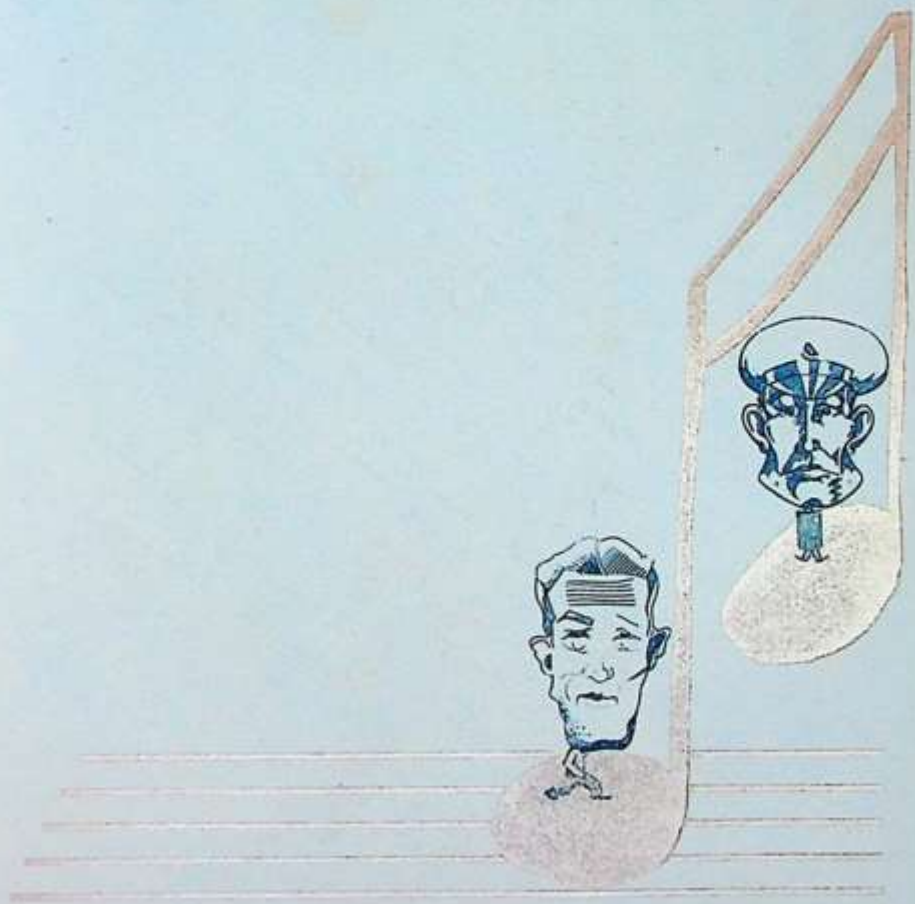

R. O. T. C. HOP

The Military Ball, sponsored by the Northeast Battalion, was held March 20, 1937. The event, which is rapidly becoming traditional, was very successful. Uniformed Cadets, R. O. T. C. Alumni, and girls in brilliant formals danced amid colorful decorations in the Battalion's outstanding social event. Mary Kilroy, Senior, was elected Queen of the Ball and presided with beauty and poise.

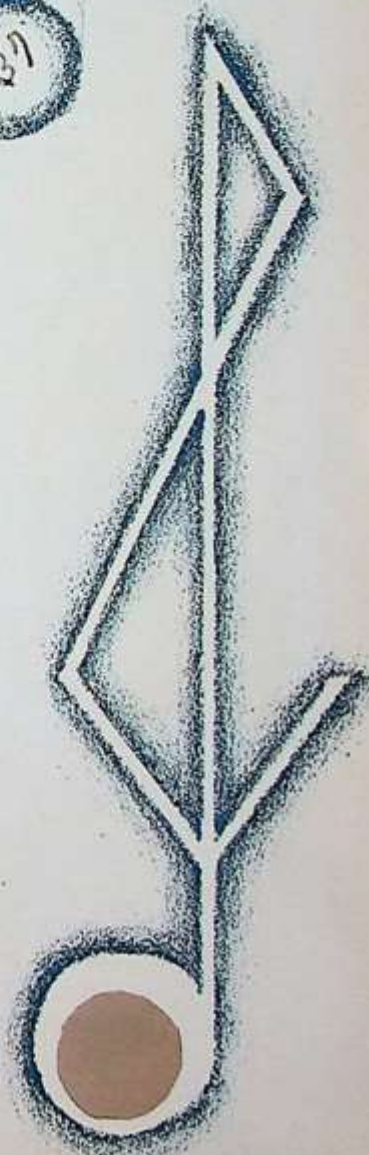

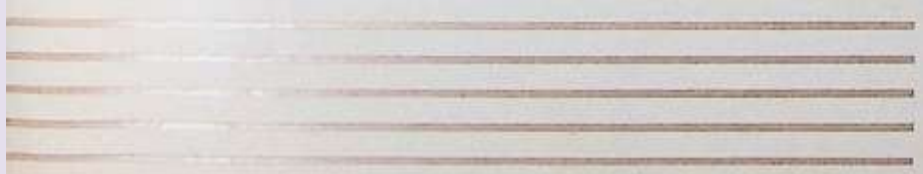

Members of the faculty, and Reserve Officers attended.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

Northeast without her literary societies is almost as difficult to imagine as Rome without her Caesar. The societies are "pillars," so to speak, of the school—without them school life would lose much of its interest. Northeast organized the literary societies for a two-fold purpose: to further literary undertakings, to bring about closer friendships among the students through social contact received in the societies.

The first aim is realized through the annual "lit" contest, which is held in the spring of the year. There, the societies are represented in declamation, oration, poem, short story, and essay. First, second, and third places are chosen for each event, the medals received by the winners being gold, silver, and bronze, respectively.

Other than the regular weekly meetings of the societies, there are semester social events, which are held outside of school. These meetings help the society members to become better acquainted and to form friendships that probably would not have been formed otherwise.

INTER-SOCIETY DANCE

Seventy couples danced to the music of the Hinton-Selder orchestra at the 1936 annual Inter-Society dance held in our school's gymnasium. Decorations of green and white furnished an artistic background for the dancing couples.

The dance is an annual event, sponsored by the literary societies of Northeast, and it is one of the main social events of the year. It is not restricted entirely to society members. A boy in a society may ask a girl who does not belong to a society or vice versa.

The society members greatly look forward to this event and when the last dance is over and the last note of the orchestra has faded into space, all regret that it could not have lasted longer.

TREASURES

BETTY CLAIRE SHEPHERD
Clonian Literary Society

The years pass swiftly, hour on hour, and as
 They each are placed in that old album, Time,
 So scented with sweet memories; we pause.
 Both joy and sorrow mingle through the years.
 And yet, the beauty of the joy has so outweighed
 The sorrow, we'd not fear to travel there again.
 And as we backward gaze, some murmur sad
 Regrets that Time must move so swiftly on.

But I have no regret if in my heart I find
 The room to keep some shining lovely things:
 A breath of song, a laugh, a kindly deed,
 The fragrant smell of lilacs in the rain—
 These hold my heart in peace and sweet content.

ESSAY

SPRING MICROBE

MARY ELLEN LAURY

Clonian Literary Society

Ever since Adam and Eve left the garden of Eden, the human family has endeavored to govern, restrain, and regulate their modes of living. At the present time everyone is aware that some form of control is exercised over most everything we do. Life is just one control after another. Yet, in spite of it all, there still remain some activities which defy all efforts to regulate them. One of these is a disease of worldly scope, common to all people of all ages—no one can escape it, no one is immune from it. We know its symptoms, we see its effects, but we do not know how to control it. It is beyond all powers of regulations!

The symptoms of this disease are multitudinous; the period of incubation of its microbes indefinite; the extent of its ravages immeasurable; and the length of its convalescent period as indeterminate as the balancing of the federal budget.

I refer to the annual recurrence of the insidious malady, commonly known as "spring fever!"

Now as to its symptoms? Well, let's see.

Quite often Dad is the first victim of the fever. Coming home from work on the street car (mother has borrowed the car to go to club), he sits in his seat and gazes wistfully out of the open car window, unmindful of time, place, or persons. Suddenly, a brown moth drifting in through the open window, hits Dad squarely on the cheek. Angered, he clutches it in his hand, but as its small, downy body flutters within his grasp, his anger leaves him and he begins to think of

"An idle little stream,
Whose amber waters softly gleam
Where I may wade
And cast the fly, and loaf, and dream.
Only a trout or two, to dart
From foaming pools, and try my art."

Suddenly, he arouses from his dream, realizing too late, that he has passed his street corner. Giving the bell a jab, he lurches from his seat, gets off the car, and heads for home still thinking of "An idle little stream." Walking down the street he catches sight of his youngest son, Freddie, engaged in a rough-an-tumble wrestling match. Freddie's right pant knee is torn, the buttons are ripped off the front of his shirt, his socks are down, and his shoes untied. His face is smeared with dirt and grime, while his wavy chestnut hair resembles the tawny mane of "Leo the Lion." It was easy to see that he was wrestling "for all he was worth" and having the "time of his life." Dad idly watched him for a minute, oblivious to torn pants and all the rest, faintly smiled, and went on his way home still thinking of a dancing brook, the spat of a skimming fly, and the strike of a rising fish.

The minute Dad opened the front door he knew something was wrong! There were papers spread all over the floor; some of the curtains were down; the top of the piano and the ledge over the fireplace were covered with pictures that had formerly adorned the walls; the chairs were "this way and that"; the dining room rug was all rolled up.

Dad heard a masculine voice saying, "Don't worry, Mrs. Jones, your son will be all right." He looked quite bewildered for a moment, but was relieved somewhat upon recognizing Mother and Dr. Black coming down the stairs. Mother tells him, unnecessarily, that she has begun her spring house cleaning, and that Dr. Black's presence was due to the fact that Delbert came home from school looking "perfectly terrible!" His face was so red that she was afraid he had broken out with Scarlet Fever, and right away she sent for the doctor. (Mother was always scared something would happen to her darling boys.) But Dr. Black just gave her a tube of "Vaseline" and told Delbert not to play baseball quite so long in the sun the next time. All he had was a case of "spring sun burn."

Dad gave her a disgusted look, took off his coat, unbuttoned the four bottom buttons on his vest, rolled up his shirt sleeves, and mumbling to himself about "being glad when he could go fishing," started for the basement. Uncovering his tackle box from the trunk in which he kept his "personal belongings," he began to check over his spinners, flies, and leaders, and to get everything in readiness for that "coming" fishing trip. He was soon interrupted by Mother who announced supper and smilingly informed him that the office had called and said he didn't have to work tomorrow. "Now he could help her with the house cleaning."

However, much to Mother's disappointment, Dad did not live up to her expectations the following day. She had accompanied him to the back yard, dragging him and the dining room rug behind her with one hand, while tightly clutching the carpet beater in the other. Thrusting the beater into Dad's hand, she gave him a determined look, turned, and went back into the house to resume her work. Listlessly Dad began a rhythmical flailing of the rug, his mind on other things.

Leigh Hunt says in his essay on sleep, "There is perhaps no sensation so exquisite as that of slumbering on the grass, shaded from the sun by a tree, with the consciousness of a fresh but light air running through the wide atmosphere, and the sky stretching far overhead upon all sides."

And I profoundly believe Dad agreed with him 100%, for when Mother came out to see how he was coming along, she found him lying under the old apple tree in the back yard, his head on his arm, a cigar stub drooping from the corner of his mouth, and his hand holding a recent novel entitled, "Gone with the Wind."

Now Mother was a hard worker and she believed in sticking to a job until it was done. But one look at Dad sleeping so soundly—well, she just couldn't wake him up. So shrugging her shoulders she went into the house, called up the "Helping Hand," and asked them if they had a man they could send out to beat rugs.

Poor Mother! Each day seemed to bring her more to worry about. The "spring fever bug" had surely bitten all of them. Freddie, the one boy of the two who rarely got in trouble, had had "overtimes" at school every night for a week. Once for going to sleep in study hall, and the rest of them due to playing "hookey." And to top it all off, his usually neat, good natured self had degenerated into a fighting dervish with torn clothing, scratched hands and face, and a fussy disposition.

But the worst case of all was Delbert. Mother had always credited her fifteen year old son with having some "good sense" in his head. But let me tell you what that young fellow did. He went to the mixer after school where a little, black-eyed, raven-haired girl by the name of Sadie Brooks, with trim ankles and a "come hither" look, fairly dragged him onto the floor for his initial instruction in the terpsichorean art. Now that was all right, but notice the effect on poor, fever-bitten Delbert, as he confided to his parents that evening.

"Oh, Mother, she looked so adorable! And when I took her hand (hers was cool and clinging) in mine (his was warm and moist), and we started to dance—well, well, it was just like heaven!"

Mother gasped and caught her breath. And Dad, what did he do? Well, he sat and smoked, and somberly looked at his son. Silently, Dad's brain registered the fact that hard maple trees were not the only creations that "oozed" sap in springtime. However, unconscious Delbert paid little or no attention to either of his parents, but excused himself, and hurried to the other room, where the strains of "Girl of My Dreams" were coming in over the radio.

Now Dad had had the fever, Freddie had had the fever, Delbert had had the fever, and yet Mother seemed to be still "plugging" along in the same old manner. But lo and behold! A whole swarm of the virulent little microbes took possession of her and caused her to come down with the "gardening" fever.

How she did work! Raked, spaded, hoed, planted, fertilized—until Dad was afraid she would be a "wreck." Why, she even came in of an evening so tired, and worn-out, and sore, that it was all she could do to crawl into bed. But the gong finally rang when she had to hire someone to come over and finish the house cleaning, so she could get rested up in time to get off to club in good shape.

Now, I know all of you have been exposed to this disease. Probably you have all been victims of it. Yet, there is nothing you can possibly do to control it. But as Mother always said, "The only consolation I have been able to get up to date is to think of the words Abraham Lincoln once spoke, "And this too shall pass."

SHORT STORY

JOHNNY vs. PATRICIA

CARL DAVIS

Benton Literary Society

"Hey, Pats!"

"Yep, what do ya want?"

"I'll give you a quarter."

"Nope."

"Fifty cents?"

"Nope."

"Seventy-five?"

"Nope."

"Well how much'll you take," cried Johnny Melton to his little sister, Patricia.

"Nothin'."

"Aw—come on Pats, be a sport. You don't understand. When a fella's got a date, he don't want his little sister hanging around."

"It ain't no use, Johnny Melton. I'm goin' to the Fair with you, and you can't buy me off."

"Aw Pats—"

"Hey Mary!" interrupted Patricia, "Where you going? Wait a minute, I'm coming too."

So Patricia swallowed her last bite of apple pie, jumped off the top step of the Melton back porch and ran to join her friend, Mary, leaving her brother, John in a quandary.

John was in what the boys called a "tough spot." For two years he had been the silent admirer of Janice Keats. He had finally summoned together all of his courage, and had asked to take her to the Nedleton Town Fair. She had accepted. The little town of Nedleton was one hundred and fifty miles from John's home. John had asked for the family car and his father had given him permission to drive it provided he take along his sister, Patricia. John had readily agreed to this proposition, not realizing how stubborn his sister could be. Consequently, for two weeks he begged and pleaded with Patricia, using every method of persuasion he or his friends could think of, but Patricia was not to be swayed. She was determined to go to the Fair.

"Oh, darn," mumbled Johnny under his breath, as Patricia made her most ungraceful jump from the top step.

"Er—What's that you say, Son?"

"Oh, hello, Pop. I didn't know you were home yet."

"Just got here," replied Mr. Melton as he settled himself on the steps beside his son. "Isn't that Patricia running down the alley with the Freeman girl?"

"Yes, that's her. Guess they're going to the store. Say Pop, do I have to take Pats tomorrow?"

"Oh! So that's what is worrying you. Well, Son, you'll have to take her or let your mother have the car and she will take her."

"If I don't take Pats I don't take the car. Is that it?"

"Well, if you want to put it that way, but what objection you have to Patri—"

"Sorry Pop," interrupted John, "There goes Billy Morrison on his bike. I've got to see him on business. Be back after a bit— Hey Bill! Hold on a minute." Johnny grabbed his bike which was lying at the side of the steps and rushed after Bill.

"Say guy, I want you to do something for me. Will you?"

"Sure, John, Old Pal. Anything."

"Well, Bill. You knew I was taking Janice to the Fair tomorrow." Johnny began.

"Sure, I knew. You're darn lucky too. Say, you don't want to borrow money do you? Cause if you do, I hav—"

"No, it's not money; but Dad says I've got to take Pats if I want to take the car. And I've just got to have the car."

"Gosh, John; that's going to be tough on you. Glad I haven't got a sister, especially one like yours."

"Oh, she's not so bad, Bill," continued Johnny in an unconvincing tone. "Really she's not; I'll give you two bucks if you'll take her to the Fair tomorrow with you and your folks."

THE NOR'EASTER

—❧ 128

"Say John, you know I'd do anything for you within reason; but she's a 'Holy Terror'."

"Listen, Guy; remember that time last year when I took your mom to the Junior Class Day Program for you, and I did it for nothing too. Come on, turn about's fair play."

"Yes, I know, John. If you were only asking me to take your mom it would be different. But that sis of yours; take it from me, she's human dynamite."

"Swell pal you turned out to be."

"Sorry old boy," called Bill as he left Johnny on the main street and turned off on a side road. "Maybe I can help you next time."

Johnny either did not hear or paid no attention to this last remark. He made his way down the street. "What's the use going home," he thought. He had tried everything possible there. He just couldn't understand his mother. He would have thought she might have been a little more understanding. But No! When he had appealed to her she merely said—"You'll be a good girl and not get in Johnny's way won't you, Patsy dear."

John laughed as he remembered Patricia's sweet reply.

"Of course, Mummy, you know I will; I'll be so GO-O-OD."

Yeh! Well John knew just how good she would be. She would be wanting everything she saw and asking a lot of silly questions. Besides it didn't matter how good she'd be; it was just the idea of having her tag along. But it did him no good to protest.

* * * * *

Seven-thirty that evening found a more depressed Johnny, than ever, returning home. The sight of Patricia swinging on the gate with a triumphant grin on her face did not better Johnny's mood.

"Out of my way, Infant," growled Johnny as he pushed open the gate.

"Oh Johnny, not so fast. I've got good news for you."

"You have," returned Johnny in an uninterested voice. "I suppose you've found a couple of your friends who would like to tag along tomorrow."

"No, Johnny. I've been thinkin'."

"Stop, that's more'n I can stand."

"Well, do you want to hear it or don't you?"

"Yes, go on. I'm prepared for anything."

"Well, as I said before, I've been thinkin'. Maybe it wouldn't be so hot, me tagging along with you tomorrow."

"Pats! Do you mean it?"

"Well, I don't know; it would be worth about five dollars to me."

"Oh! Have a heart Pats, what am I supposed to use for money tomorrow? Make it two dollars."

"Nope, no less than five."

"Patricia, Patricia," called a stern voice from within the house.

"Yes Sir. I'm a comin'. O. K. Johnny," continued Patricia in a hurried voice, "Make it two fifty and hurry up, I'll take it."

Johnny lost no time. He dug in his pockets and counted out two dollars and fifty cents into Patricia's eager hand.

"Say, Johnny," called Patricia as she made her way to the house; "You'd better not let Dad know about this. If he knew you were paying me, he mightn't let you take the car."

"O. K., Pats, you're a sport. Guess sisters aren't so bad after all, especially one like you."

A few minutes later Mr. Melton joined his son in the living room.

"Hello, Pop," said Johnny, in a cheerful voice.

"Hello, Son! Did Patricia tell you she wasn't going to the Fair tomorrow?"

"No, Dad," replied Johnny in a surprised voice. "What's the trouble?"

"She's up in her room now, and she's going to stay there. The idea! She was with that Freeman girl this afternoon and they were throwing rocks. They broke the front window of Joe's market. He just called me; I've got to punish that rascal some way."

"Just a minute, Dad. You mean Pats couldn't go even if she wanted to."

"Yes, she's got to learn—where are you going Son?"

Johnny was already half way up the steps.

"I'll be back in a minute, Dad. I want to see Patricia. I want to give her—I want to give her my sympathy."

To himself he muttered, "Two fifty! OH YOU SUCKER!"

ORATION

THE CHANCE OF YOUTH

LORENE DAVIS

Clonian Literary Society

"The chance of Youth is the hope of the world." These words, uttered only a short time after the World War, are still on the lips of our people. Youth must be given the opportunity to save civilization, to reconstruct the world—a world that is rushing head-on to disaster, led by old men—old not in years, but in fundamental beliefs and staid traditions. Youth has lost faith in these leaders who countenanced a war of death—the war without mercy, without chivalry, the world's most costly war—at the expense of Youth. Yes, these men of old ideas and traditions are responsible for the worst war the world has ever seen. Not consciously nor deliberately are they guilty, but they will be condemned by posterity, as by Youth, for upholding the idea of international rivalry, the old tradition of diplomacy and military power. They will be condemned for displaying the narrowest patriotism and supreme national egotism, and for not foreseeing that their system of government or their obedience to that system was bound to produce the monstrous conflict so ignobly recalled.

These men cannot be condemned individually, but they must be condemned generally, as were their predecessors who burned old women as witches, or defended slavery as a sacred right. These men have heard the charges against them and plead guilty. They, too, await with the world the arising of a new generation. It is the fervent hope of civilization that Youth will find a way of government by reason, not passion; by economic unity in the place of greedy rivalry.

The rise of a generation of Youth must be allowed to indulge in groping, if it is to work out a new philosophy, for the controlling generation has acted with no sufficient level of wisdom, the management of affairs, to justify repression. The House of Youth will have its Guelphs, Binanchi, and its Negri, as throughout the history of the world, and that is good, for it is a bad world if the ardor of Youth—its gay sense of adventure—are marshaled into one disciplinary force and held under a theoretical monster, or the iron reign of a new fanaticism. Yet, with complete liberty and differences of ideas and methods, there may be a jumping-off ground to new goals. This jumping-off ground will be a line cutting across history on November 11, 1918, dividing the old world from the new, at least politically, as before the war and after.

To Youth, to the intelligence of the coming generation has been passed the responsibility of breaking down the frontiers of hostilities between classes and between nations, thereby establishing in the place of nationalism, a new worldism. Youth must, and shall defend its right to physical excellence—"To lift itself to heroic heights and having attained the glory of manhood, to refuse to let it be destroyed again in the hard wastefulness of senseless wars." It is impossible to forecast the future, but come what may, Youth shall have its chance of building anew, on cleaner, straighter grounds, with ideas of beauty and human happiness, broader than the boundaries of caste or class, nobler than the interest of wealth or wage.

We, the Youth of the coming generation, need have no fear that Peace will rob us of romance or adventure. The rebuilding of a new world on the ruins of the old, the pursuit of spiritual beauty, the calling back of song and laughter to human life, and the Faith re-established in the soul of the world will furnish un-ending adventure. Thus is the chance for Youth, standing now at the open door, ready and willing to do, able to meet the future. In the fervent words of Philip Gibbs, "Oh, God, if only I had Youth again, I should like that great adventure, and take the chance."

ALPHA LITERARY SOCIETY

"She must be pretty good! She belongs to the Alphas." That's a remark commonly made regarding Alpha girls.

The Alpha Literary Society is one of the oldest societies in the school. It has also won more "Lit" contests than any other society.

The purpose of Alpha is to promote social life and encourage literary undertakings. The motto is "Esse Quam Videre"—"to be rather than to seem." Yellow and white are the colors. The Alphas have two main social events each year—in the fall and in the spring. This fall they had a pot-luck dinner at the "Y" building and afterwards attended the football game.

After the marriage of Miss DeWitt who had been sponsor for several years, Miss Wright consented to take her place.

NORTHEAST SOCIETY OF DEBATE

The Northeast Society of Debate has striven to be the backbone of the school. Roll call at our meetings is a recital of the names of school leaders. The society has encouraged all types of activity: athletic, literary, and social. Organized in 1913, it is the oldest boys' society at Northeast.

In addition to participating in the inter-society dance, the "Debaters" had a hike and a stag party. Under the guidance of Mr. Salter, the society studied principles of debate, also recent movements in literature. In order to gain experience, intra-society contests were held throughout the year in all events of the annual literary contest.

CLIONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

"Fifty girls in red and white!"

Who? The Clionian Literary Society, next to the oldest all-girl society at Northeast.

Its motto: "Seek the beautiful"; its flower, the red rose.

The purpose of the Clionian Literary Society, as formulated in 1916 by the charter members, is to promote high ideals of scholarship, uphold democratic friendships, and to cultivate the social life of its members.

In the annual Literary Contest, the Clionian Society has won first place for the past two years, tying with School-at-Large in 1936. The members strive to maintain the highest standards and ideals of literary excellency.

The society sponsor for the past six years has been Miss Imogene Murdock.

BENTON LITERARY SOCIETY

The Benton Literary Society was organized March 11, 1921. A year after its organization, it won the "Lit" contest.

The purpose of the society is to stimulate interest in literature, to develop a better appreciation of art, and to improve the literary ability of its members.

B ecause the Bentons are the best,
E ach member meets his every test.
N ever does their Spirit die.
T hey're always ready for a try.
O n to victory they will go,
N ever failing to rout their foe.

THETA LITERARY SOCIETY

T-H-E-T-A spells Theta, the literary society that is booming—going right to the top—not that we have been far from it all along. The wise owl, our emblem, reflects the nature of the society. Our "Lit" Contest dresses are not just pretty shades of blue and white, but they represent the loyalty and character standards that every Theta faithfully and joyously lives up to.

These fifty-five girls will be Thetas at heart all their lives because they put their society first of all their activities, and they love it. The Snapshot Contest, which we have won for the last two years, is only one of the many victories that fall to Theta.

DELTA LITERARY SOCIETY

The spirit and high quality of the Delta girls is shown in their motto, "Ever Faithful." Their love of beauty and appreciation of art is seen in their choice of a flower, the lily of the valley, and in their adoption of a beautiful formal initiation.

Although one of the last two societies formed, the Delta Society is rapidly "coming into its own"—the top of the list.

Their social event last semester was a line party to Loew's Midland and a luncheon at the Mayfair Grillroom. They plan a horseback ride this semester.

Miss Mapes, the sponsor, is a well-known and well-loved member of the faculty.

DELPHIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Wasn't the initiation beautiful? Everyone had a grand time! The ribbons so proudly displayed are the traditional purple and gold. Initiates are now acquainted with the society song, with its flower (the aster), with its tradition; and they anxiously await the memorable social event and the Literary Contest. Officers, members, and sponsors have maintained a high ranking society since the founding in 1916.

ART CLUB

The Northeast Art Club has been busy in more ways than one this year. The members worked in several groups, studying puppetry, clay modeling, photography, and sketching. The puppets of Price Cordier and "company" have won school-wide fame, and the snapshots taken by the Club won a place in the annual snapshot contest. The Art Club owes its success to the faithful sponsorship of Miss Mabel Newitt.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The dramatic club, under the able direction of Miss Helen Hobbs, meets every two weeks to read and discuss plays, readings, short sketches, and the school dramatic work in general.

There is always a delightful air of informality at the meeting of the Dramatic Club. Every year, all the students of the school who are interested in acting and other forms of dramatic work are invited to join, regardless of scholastic standing.

ART HONOR SOCIETY

The Art Honor Society is a new organization at Northeast. In the spring each art pupil making an "S" or more enters his year's pieces in a "one man show." The five persons judging the work choose the best ones for the Art Honor Society. Also, first, second, and third places are chosen.

This year, forty-five people entered the exhibit which consisted of many poster paint, water-color, pen and ink, chalk, and pencil pieces.

On chante en français, on joue des jeux en français et on donne des pièces françaises. Il faut devenir membre de notre cercle si vous vous intéressez à la langue la plus claire, la plus belle de toutes les langues—la langue française.

NORTHEAST LATIN CLUB

The purpose of the Northeast Latin Club is to provide Latin students an opportunity for acquiring additional knowledge of the language, literature, and civilization of the Roman people. The motto of the club is, "Per ampliora ad altiora"—"Through wider experiences to higher planes." The club was organized in 1927 and has a membership of forty this year. OUR LIBRARY

This year it was thought that a brief history of the Northeast Branch Library might be of interest.

The branch was opened on August 5, 1914, about a year after the high school was organized. It was the first branch library in Kansas City to be located in a high school building.

At that time there were only 6,000 volumes in the entire branch library. Now there are over 25,000 with 7,000 in the children's room. There is now a reference collection of over 1,000 titles, which does not include the count of volumes, nor the number of copies of each title.

The first branch librarian, Susie Schaffer, had one assistant, Elizabeth Ware. Now there are four assistants, besides two regular pages, two N. Y. M. workers, and two N. Y. A. workers, who alternate work at night. The assistants at the present time are Annadele Riley and Alice Brasfield in the adult department, Gertrude Pope in charge of the boys' and girls' room, and Dorothy McCutcheon, assistant. Clara Fate is branch librarian. Jack Smith and Howard Franklin have served as pages this year.

Over 45,000 passes were used by Northeast High School pupils the past school year. This was in addition to the Junior College and Post-graduate admissions. Seating room is kept as the study hall for those of the Junior College classes who wish to study. A reserve collection of books for their reference work is kept with the regular high school reserves.

STAGE CREW

Up goes the curtain and what do we see! A perfectly arranged stage, with correct lighting, and proper arrangement of the public address system, done by the stage crew. Their work has been invaluable in assemblies. This year's crew, Harold Fleming, Jack French, James Singleton, Lee Conway and Howard Gammill, has been very successful under the direction of Mr. Pinkney and Mr. Babbit.

VIKING VARIETIES

Thrills! Music! Comedy! All these you enjoyed if you attended the 1936 Viking Varieties. The program, which consisted of music, dancing, impersonations, and dialogues, was a "whooping" success. More than 2,000 people witnessed the Viking Varieties, which were held two nights. There was Rubinoff and his violin, played by Mary Catherine Colglazier, and Popeye the Sailor Man, played by Wayne Alexander. Harry Rosenblum and Hortense Todd presented a skit entitled "At the Football Game." Hortense played the part of a boring girl friend who had no trouble asking "dumb" questions of her exasperated escort. Helen Vanderlinden and Doris Caldwell made the audience laugh until they cried in a skit portraying a good-for-nothing, temperamental doctor and his flirty secretary.

There were several musical solos and trios. A trio composed of Kay Logan, Dorothy Schultz, and Betty Peterson sang "Me and the Moon." Other singers and musicians were Donnasue Lohmeyer, Robert Henderson, Bill Lord, Harwood Craig, Bill Ferguson, Marian Fisher, Helen Childress, Ruth Diven, and Virginia Lama.

Many tap dances and toe dances were featured. Eugenia Reed did a solo toe dance to the tune "There's Something About a Soldier." Cannon Kane was featured in a dance and song number. Johnnie Mae Hendrix tapped up and down the stairs. Other dancers were Elinor Rawlings, Dorothy Brenner, Bob Waller, and Maurine Crowley with her "girls."

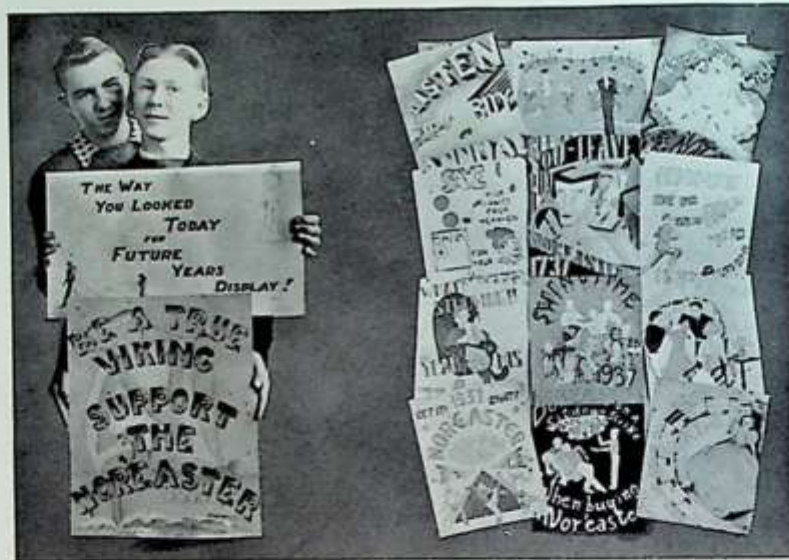

Price Cordier impersonated a woman "just in from the country." Hubert Semler gave an impersonation. He also took part in a skit "Gang Busters" with Wallace Housler.

After the Varieties, a large number of the audience attended a mixer held in the gym. The popular orchestra led by Robert Van Der Aa furnished the music.

MIXERS

A touch of interest has been added to our school life by mixers. These dances, under the direction of the mixer committee, were sponsored to introduce students informally to each other. The school's popular orchestra, under the leadership of Robert Van Der Aa, furnished the music. Robert has led the orchestra since September and his work has made him conspicuous. He deserves many congratulations.

This year's mixer committee included: Ralph Brown as chairman, Betty Denton, Dorothy Hollopeter, Betty Smith, and Betty Walker. Their work has been highly appreciated, and each student has experienced rare pleasure at these informal gatherings.

POSTER-SLOGAN CONTEST

All the aspiring young artists and authors put their best into posters and slogans for a contest sponsored by the Nor'easter Annual staff this spring. The posters were attractive and the slogans quite "catchy." The alcove was more popular than ever (if it could be so) when the pieces of work were on display. Our Vikings and Vi-queens could be discovered at almost any hour of the day discussing their favorites.

The winning pieces, both poster and slogan, were chosen by a popular vote taken in Home Room. The winning poster was made by Canon Kane and the winning slogan came from the brilliant mind of Ralph Brown.

STUFF

A certain young Northeast lady stepped out with her beau one lovely evening this year. The boy in the case, having just got off work, hastily stuffed his work socks in a back pocket. While having dinner in a restaurant, the young lady spilled soup on her dress. Wanting to be of assistance to the lady in distress, the young man gallantly offered her his handkerchief. Can you imagine his chagrin, her horror, and the amusement of the onlookers, when he discovered he held dangling from his outstretched hand a very crumpled and soiled stocking!

JOKES

(We hoba, hoba, hope)

Kenneth Dunn (in a noisy class): You could hear a pin drop.

Angela Daleo: Yeah, a rolling pin.

Jack Smith, to June Reed and Juanita Edmondson (confidentially): Say, will you two girls tell me if you see the guy that stole the sleeves out of my vest?

Mr. Calvert, to his chemistry class: Why should you walk around half dead when the undertaker will bury you for $37.50.

GOSSIP

Dave Blunt, senior, uses purple bath salts just to keep the good old school spirit.

Yes, this younger generation is going to the dogs. To prove it, one of those big, strong athletes was heard telling a certain young lady just how to wash him, feed him, clothe him, rock him, and above all, how to cuddle him! Then, in a few days, to make matters worse, he proceeded to load her desk with a huge bouquet of red buds. Tsk! Tsk! And "Chuck" used to be such a nice boy.

"Gigolo Jim," alias "James Wirthman," was very "rebarrisk" at one time this year when, upon opening his locker, an alley cat jumped out and proceeded to show James what he thought of being locked in a locker! A certain Tiff Denton is the guilty party.

And we'll never forget the beautiful crimson that flooded Harwood Craig's fair face at a mixer given this year, when a certain girl "cut in." Harwood turned to tell Marian Stephens, his partner, "Thanks," but made a mistake and seemed to be saying it to the girl who interrupted. Of course, Harwood's remark was not any expression of relief, but nevertheless—was his face red!

What's this we hear about Miss Cleveland and a Bride's desk! It seems as though there is a certain desk in her room that has been vacated several times because the girls have married. Miss Cleveland has decided to change desks to see if it would do her any good. So far, we see—well—

Can it really be true that Don Click is off the women for life! We wonder—What about Ruth, Don?

All you girls that are after that handsome "brute," Russell Faulkner, might like to know that he was heard saying that he liked "red-heads" and "blonds." Well, girls, you know the remedy.

Valda, dear, There are many activities in Northeast that I shall always associate with your name. There are many other reasons why I shall always remember you with the kindest thoughts. I am glad you were here for a P.S. year and I sincerely regret that you can not return next year. May your interests grow and flourish as much in the future as they have while in Northeast. You entered a Soph. G.P. and you are leaving it all very Soph. G.P. Much love and great appreciation of our good times in your home - poppy seed cake!! Angel food cake!! Paper juice!!

Sincerely your friend,
 Martha Carter,
